DESCRIPTION

This module aims to provide learners with the knowledge and skills related to the different information provision material on AMMR and Eurodac to be used during the responsibility determination procedure for applicants with special reception or procedural needs.

It covers the legal framework relating to information provision under the AMMR with respect to applicants with special needs, with a focus on the approach and methodology on how to provide such information.

It prepares learners to apply this knowledge in the context of effectively completing and applying the different AMMR information provision leaflets and tools developed by the EUAA and to tailor them to Member State-specific information in line with the profiles of applicants with specific reception or procedural needs.

This module is complementary to the EUAA manual Providing information to vulnerable applicants and persons with specific needs.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

At the end of this module, the learner will be able to:

Knowledge

1. Identify the different information provision materials developed by the EUAA in line with Article 20 of the AMMR for applicants with special reception or procedural needs, including in relation to Eurodac.

2. Understand how to use the information provision materials developed by the EUAA pursuant to the AMMR for applicants with special reception or procedural needs, including in relation to EURODAC, and how to complete them with Member State specific information.

DELIVERY METHOD

This module is delivered entirely online, through self-paced learning.
