4.7.1.4 Support for the administration of reception facilities

ber States launched or were planning to launch IT tools to support the administration and process management of reception facilities

The Agency for the Welfare of Asylum Seekers (AWAS) in Malta plans to improve its processes in 2021 with the introduction of an IT tool for data management in reception centres, and it strengthened the centres' administrative capacities by hiring new staff who filled previously empty posts, including several senior administrators.

AMIF funds the development of a new IT system for managing reception in Poland, while amendments to the Law on International Protection in Greece planned to develop information systems in reception structures.[573]

The COA in the Netherlands needed to swiftly address a serious data leak with the personal data of applicants in June 2020.[574]
