

2.3.1. Displacement and return

2.3.1. Displacement and return

The conflict between the Taliban and the previous government caused large displacement, with an average of 380 000 people becoming displaced per year across the whole country, according to Internal Displacement Monitoring Centre (IDMC). After the Taliban takeover, conflict-induced displacement stopped almost completely, according to the same source.<sup>727</sup> Most displacement taking place after 2021 has been induced by climate change and natural disasters.<sup>728</sup>

Nevertheless, 4.2 million people were estimated to live in internal displacement due to conflict and violence in 2024, and 3 200 new movements were recorded this year due to violence along the border with Pakistan, mainly in Khost Province.<sup>729</sup> Although not providing any figures, the UN Secretary-General noted that civilians had been displaced in border areas in 2024, including following clashes between Pakistani security forces and Afghan de facto security forces in Shorabak (Kandahar Province) on 6 and 9 October 2024, and following shelling in Dangam (Kunar Province) on 7 October 2024.<sup>730</sup>

In 2025 (as of 12 October), UN OCHA recorded 7 467 conflict-induced displacements, taking place in the provinces of Nangarhar and Kunar. This included 6 675 individuals being displaced from the district of Mohmandara and 694 individuals from the district of Durbaba (both located in Nangarhar Province) and 98 individuals being displaced from Nari district (Kunar Province). UN OCHA also noted that constrained humanitarian access prevents verifying the full extent of displacement.<sup>731</sup> Local de facto authorities however stated that about 20 000 families had been displaced from Spin Boldak following Pakistani airstrikes in October 2025.<sup>732</sup>

The UN Secretary-General also reported on 250 families being displaced from the district Sarkani (Kunar Province) on 10 January 2025, following mortar fire and heavy clashes between Afghan de facto security forces and Pakistani security forces.<sup>733</sup>

UNHCR reported on 649 IDPs returning to various provinces in 2025 (as of 30 November);<sup>734</sup> see Figure 4 on the previous page.

<sup>727</sup>

IDMC, One year on: the Taliban takeover and Afghanistan's changing displacement crisis, August 2022, url

<sup>728</sup>

IOM, Climate Crisis Drives Displacement, Worsens Afghanistan's Humanitarian Needs: IOM Report, 27 February 2025, url

<sup>729</sup>

IDMC, Country Profile, Afghanistan, 15 May 2025, url

730

UN General Assembly and UN Security Council, The situation in Afghanistan and its implications for international peace and security, 6 December 2024, url, para. 16

731

UN OCHA, Afghanistan: Conflict Induced Displacements, 24 November 2025, url

732

TOLOnews, 20,000 Families Displaced by Pakistani Airstrikes in Kandahar, 18 October 2025, url

733

UN General Assembly and UN Security Council, The situation in Afghanistan and its implications for international peace and security, 21 February 2025, url, para. 21

734

UNHCR, Forced Displacement and Returns in Afghanistan, 20 December 2025, url

© European Union Agency for Asylum 2026 | Email: info@euaa.europa.eu